Lancaster's far famed hospitality will be taxed to the uttermost during Chautauqua week.

Don't forget the date of the "Battle of Gettysburg" at the Opera House June 16th, in 5 reels.

Fried chicken and garden "sass" in abundance graces the tables of Garrard county people nowadays.

Painting and paper hanging. Work O. K. or no pay. H. D. Elmore, Lancaster, Ky.

LOST—Steel fishing rod between back of Mounts' store and Miss Pattie Gills. Return to this office and receive reward.

Sup't Herron tells us every effort will be made to have the oiling of the streets completed before the beginning of the Chautauqua.

Cut your weeds, whitewash and freshen up your premises for "Chautauqua" there will be lots of strangers in town during the week.

Crab Orchard is already becoming the Mecca of the pleasure seekers and many automobiles are passing every day headed in that direction.

The small boys were in great demand during the splendid tobacco season of last week, and many of them earned the princely sum, to them, of $2. per day.

Unrelenting care as to your supply of drinking water, and strict observance of the laws of sanitation, will insure good health in the community during the heated season.

We have heard nothing more of the health of the wheat crop of the county, and presume that its savings were confined to a small area in the lower part of the county. Reports from all sections give prospects of a bountiful wheat crop.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Circuit Court begins the mid-summer term in Lancaster on next Monday June 15th. The docket is an unusually light one, and the term will doubtless be a very short and uneventful one. This is the time of year when farmers are very busy and are very loath to do jury service, and it has never been Judge Hardin's policy to force them to perform jury service to the detriment of their farm labors, and he will doubtless not make this an exception to his usual custom.

RAIN, GLORIOUS RAIN.

Never was there more bountiful or more welcome showers than those of last week. The rain fell intermittently and in spots, but each section of the county, so far as we can hear, came in for it in sufficient quantities to produce a tobacco season, and the farmers took advantage of the occasion and succeeded in getting out the greater part of the crop. Tobacco plants are unusually fine, the ground is in splendid condition and the outlook for a splendid crop, in so far as may be predicted at this early stage, is most propitious.

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT.

Lancaster friends are grieved to learn of a painful accident sustained by Miss Margaret Nolan, Richmond recently, in which she suffered a fracture of her left arm. Miss Nolan and Miss Olive Dean, who was her visitor, was out driving, when their horse became frightened at a hog which ran across the road, overturned the vehicle in which they were riding. Miss Nolan suffered a broken arm, but Miss Dean was unharmed. Both of these young ladies were popular members of the faculty of the local school during the recent term.

UP TO THE GRAND JURY.

We hear it said that the names of many will be presented to the coming grand jury as infringers of the fish and game laws, and some of those who have been guilty of these offenses may find themselves facing indictments for their imprudence.

DALTON RICH IMPROVING.

Dalton Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rich, who has been seriously sick at his father's home near town, is very much improved, sufficiently so as to permit the dismissal of the nurse who has been in attendance, and it is thought that his complete recovery is now but a question of time.

AUTO SERVICE.

I am now running an automobile on the mail line between Lancaster and Nicholasville and can accommodate the public with good auto service. TRIBUTE TO BRADLEY.

Captain James W. Ramsey, the First ward veteran, is a stalwart republican and he does not as a rule get much comfort from democratic papers. But he is greatly proud of the tribute to the late Senator William O. Bradley of Kentucky paid to the senator's memory by a democratic paper printed in Bradley's childhood home in Garrard county. The paper is the Lancaster Central Record, and extracts from the editorial are given.—Washington (Ind) Herald.

Mr. Ramsey, the "stalwart republican," is a valued subscriber and good friend of the Record, and this is his as well as the late lamented Senator Bradley's "home town," and surely Mr. Ramsey knows that we are sufficiently broad minded to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and that we invariably pay proper tribute to every citizen of this county who deserves it, irrespective of what his politics may be.

STRELITZ-JOSEPH.

Miss Helen Strelitz of Chattanooga, Tenn. and Mr. Arthur Joseph of Lancaster were united in marriage Wednesday in Asheville, N. C., where the bride has been sojourning for the past several weeks. The newlyweds will remain in Asheville for a couple of weeks, after which they will spend several weeks among the various eastern summer resorts, returning to Lancaster early in July, where they will remain permanently.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Strelitz of Chattanooga, whose husband before his death was a retired business man of the Tennessee city. The young lady was prominent socially in her home town, and will be welcomed heartily upon their return to Lancaster.

The groom needs no introduction to the readers of the Record. He is a "home boy," born and reared in Lancaster, the youngest son of the late Jacob and Mrs. Elizabeth Joseph, and occupies a high place in the estimation of the people of Lancaster and Garrard county. Arthur, like his father, than whom there was never a better or more highly respected citizen in the county, is a splendid business man, and with his brother Mr. Adolph Joseph and his mother, conduct one of Lancaster's most prosperous mercantile establishments, The Joseph Mercantile Co.

The Record heartily joins the legion of friends of the groom in extending a hearty welcome to the young couple and wishing them a long life of health, happiness and prosperity.

A NEW PAPER FOR LAWRENCEBURG.

The "Times" a new Democratic weekly is to be launched at Lawrenceburg with Arthur W. Timoney of Danville as editor. While advocating the principles of democracy, the new publication will not espouse the cause of any candidate within the party, and will devote its columns to giving the news of Lawrenceburg and the surrounding territory. The Lawrenceburg, Arthur Timoney is a bright young newspaper man, has considerable experience, and he was educated under the tutelage of Owen McIntyre and Vernon Richardson, it goes without saying that he will get out a newsy sheet, and will divide the patronage of that vicinity with Brer Jesse Alverson.

CHIEF OF POLICE HERRON

VICTIM OF MURDEROUS ASSAULT

BY NEGRO HE HAD UNDER ARREST On Last Sunday Afternoon.

On last Sunday afternoon Chief of Police Luther E. Herron was the victim of a murderous assault at the hands of Robert Strange, or Robert Underwood, as he is frequently called, and which resulted in the Chief receiving two dangerous pistol wounds, one in the head, the other in his body.

The details of the affair are meager, those who are supposed to have witnessed the affair being reluctant to talk. Mr. Herron because of his serious condition has not been allowed to give his version of the affair, but the facts which we have secured from a reliable source are as follows: Jane Brown, a colored woman came up town on Sunday afternoon and requested Chief Herron to go to the "Chute" and arrest another negro, said to have been John Gibbs, and whom she alleged had struck her daughter in the eye. When Mr. Herron reached the scene of the alleged trouble Robert Strange, who with a number of other negroes was present, engaged in an altercation with him, when the Chief attempted to arrest him and he ran. Mr. Herron drew his revolver and commanded him to halt, which he did; the Chief then proceeded up the alley leading from the Buckeye pike to the Richmond pike, bringing Strange with him intending to lodge him in jail. When near the stable of Mr. W. B. Ball, Strange attempted to wrench loose from Herron and the latter drew his pistol and struck him over the head with it in an effort to subdue him; they engaged in a scuffle, and in some inexplicable manner the negro secured the revolver from the officers grasp and turned a murderous fire upon him, the first shot striking him in the temple and going completely through his head, the Chief crumpled in a heap and the infuriated negro continued to discharge the weapon at his inanimate body. Three shots went wild, but another one penetrated Mr. Herron's left breast slightly above the heart, but luckily ranged upward producing a wound that will not prove serious according to his physicians, the bullet was extracted beneath the shoulder blade. The negro was heard to remark after emptying his revolver "all that keeps me from killing you right here is that I haven't another load for this pistol!" He then made for the jail carrying the pistol with him, waving it above his head and warning everyone to keep away from him.

When he reached the jail he made the statement, as we are informed, that "he had killed Luther Herron, if you want him go down there in the alley and get him." The negro was practically uninjured.

The wound through Mr. Herron's head is a dangerous one, and it is miraculous that he was not killed instantly, the bullet passed below the base of the brain and above the optic nerve, and had it deviated from its course the fractional part of an inch, it would have resulted in either instant death or total blindness. As it is, harring complications, the Chief will survive this murderous attempt on his life. He is a man of wonderful vitality and an iron nerve, and he steadfastly maintains that he will get well, and this determination will aid him materially in his struggle. He is receiving every possible attention, a nurse being constantly in attendance and every thing known to medical skill is being done to aid his recovery, and unless the unforeseen should come to pass, he has a good chance to survive his injuries.

It is a source of the deepest regret in both town and county that this fearless officer should become the victim of such a murderous assault, and hundreds of inquiries from both white and black are made every hour of the day as to his condition.

Mr. Herron has made a splendid officer, and aside from this he is a popular man, liked by all, and it is sincerely hoped that he may survive his injuries and may soon be able to resume his duties. The council met on Monday night and selected Mr. Jack Adams to serve as Chief of Police until such time as Mr. Herron may be able to resume his duties.

The negro Robert Strange was brought out on Monday for his examining trial, but was returned to jail to await the result of Mr. Herron's injury, and this method will be pursued as the law requires, until such time as the wounded man may be able to appear against him. Robert Strange, alias Robert Underwood, came to this county from Metcalfe county several years ago. He has never been in any serious trouble since he came here, but is considered to be a mean negro.

ANOTHER MEXICAN CRISIS AVERTED

A CONFLICT SEEMED INEVITABLE. BUT HUERTA

Took Water Again.

The United States declared Tampico an open port to "all Vessels". The Antilla loaded with arms consigned to the Carranza forces in Mexico, and flying the Cuban flag, was headed down the Atlantic coast headed for the open port of Tampico to land their cargo. General Huerta learning this, signified his intention of blockading the port of Tampico, and so notified the powers, as is customary between nations. Had he intercepted or molested the Antilla, it would have meant open defiance of the United States edict declaring Tampico an open port, and his interference would have been resented by American men of war. But the interference did not come. Huerta's emissaries before the Board of Mediators at Niagara Falls advised him of the folly of his action, and the Dictator had the good sense to rescind his action. Had he interfered with the Antilla, the peace negotiations would have ended automatically and hostilities would have been resumed. Gen. Funston probably would have commenced his march on Mexico City.

As the matter turned out, the peace negotiations are still in progress with good prospects of an early and amicable adjustment.

Farmers say this was beyond doubt the most favorable tobacco weather ever known.

HON. RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON

Hon. Richmond Pearson Hobson, who is known throughout the entire United States as one of America's most prominent public men is to lecture at our forthcoming Chautauqua here. Both for his achievements in the Navy and for his services as Congressman from Alabama, he has won distinction.

Capt. Hobson was elected presidential elector at large in Alabama in 1904 and was one of three men invited to address the Democratic convention in St. Louis. At the time of his election to Congress both Republicans and Democrats united in giving him the largest vote received by any Congressman from Alabama.

Richmond Pearson Hobson, "the hero of the Merrimac" is not only a statesman but an orator and he is most eagerly sought for in all parts of the country as a Chautauqua lecturer. He has addressed large audiences in nearly every state in the Union.

Mr. Hobson's lecture subject is "America's Mission as Peace-Maker Among the Nations." Just at this time the discussion of this subject is of most current interest.

Mr. Hobson's coming to this Chautauqua will be a red letter day in the history of the community. Doubt many people will be present from the surrounding country.

CONN BROTHERS

KENTUCKIAN FIRST POLITICIAN NEXT.

Mr. Arthur B. Krock, Washington correspondent to the Courier Journal, pays Senator William O. Bradley the following tribute in last Sunday's issue. "Kentucky and her people were first in his heart."

Had Senator Bradley come to Washington in his prime; had he been elected to the Senate, say, in the early years of the century, his vigor, his oratorical ability and his industry would have made him a national reputation, and he might have succeeded Aldrich as the leader of the Republican stalwarts. But Bradley came here in 1908 an old man, broken in health and in strength, his vigor more mental than bodily, his ambition less keen than in the days when he was the "perpetual candidate". A high-tariff, rock-ribbed Republican in the days when high-tariff, rock-ribbed Republicans were making their last stand, Senator Bradley contentedly followed the Aldrich-Hale-Penrose leadership and ran in their groove with these exceptions;

When their leadership sought to deprive Kentucky tobacco growers of the tax they wanted on tobacco, Bradley flew at the throats of his superiors like a tiger and prevented them from carrying out their design.

When these leaders lost their power in their own State organizations and some of them were forced to retire from the Senate, the Kentuckian, although old and broken, maintained his grip, and in 1912 held Taft to second place in Kentucky after giving him the delegate vote of the State over the far more popular Roosevelt. When hating with other factions on his native heath, he was always a McGregor, and when the interest of his State was attacked, whether by Republicans or Democrats, he was always a Bruce.

After Bradley's row with Aldrich over the 6-cent tobacco tax, he had no great local adventures until the time came for the passage of the Cantrill Tobacco Statistics Bill through the Senate. Mr. Cantrill, a Democratic Representative, had fathered this and passed it through the House, and he and the tobacco growers of the State represented to Senator Bradley their interest in having it passed through the Senate. In those days the Republicans held the Senate majority, and so Senator Bradley was selected to pilot the measure. Republicans from Connecticut and Pennsylvania, leaders of his party, informed the Kentuckian of their opposition. It made no impression on him. They told him Kentucky Democrats (so they styled the growers) would profit and Pennsylvania and Connecticut Republican manufacturers would contribute that profit.

"All the more reason for passing it, if it will help Kentuckians," said Bradley, Penrose, chairman of the Finance Committee and Bradley's titular leader, served notice that he would not permit the bill to pass. Bradley treasured the information and worked as hard as he could in the ways he understood, counting on his tremendous personal popularity and watchfulness to overcome the power of Penrose's position.

The day the Cantrill Bill came up for Senate passage Mr. Penrose was in his seat ready to repeat the "I object" which would have postponed consideration indefinitely. Senator Martine, a close friend of Bradley's walked up to Penrose and whispered something to him. The big Pennsylvanian arose laboriously and walked out of the chamber with Martine. Bradley, who had been watching him closely, waited until the leader's coat tails were out of sight and then arose and asked for "present consideration and passage" of the bill. The Vice President asked for objections. There were none. The bill was declared passed, and Bradley looked up with a grin and a twinkle in his eyes to the press gallery where the Kentucky newspaper correspondents were waiting. He waved his hand as a signal to "let 'er go," and in a few minutes the telegraph wires had carried the news that the bill had passed the Senate. Then the Senator assured himself that President Taft would sign it, saw that it was signed and then sat back to await another such task.

This task also concerned Democrats. Several farmers in Grant county were convicted under the criminal section of the Sherman law. Learning that these poor and obscure men were the only persons whose convictions had been secured by Attorney General Wickersham, while trust magnates went free. Representative Cantrill appealed to the Attorney General to recommend a pardon for the Grant county men. Representative Rouse, of their district, ably seconded him, but it soon became evident that the President did not intend to grant the pardon. The writer informed Senator Bradley of the state of the case and urged him to use his great influence with the President. "I won't do a thing," said the Senator shortly. I am sure these fellows are guilty."

"That isn't the point," he was told. "These poor farmers, who are unable to pay such fines, are the only men ever convicted by the Department under the Sherman law. Trust barons are free, while poor Kentuckians are made the Department's goats."

"If that's true," said Bradley, "I'll raise hell about it."

And he did. He found out that it was true and immediately grave no peace to Attorney General Wickersham or President Taft until the latter had agreed to pardon the Grant county men. And the day the pardon was signed found Senator Bradley at the White House waiting to make sure that it was done.

He wouldn't have Kentuckians imposed upon, and, although one of the Grant county culprits had been a Democratic member of the State Legislature the Senator went to the front as readily as if the man had been a Republican.

At the time when C. C. McChord was under consideration by President Taft for a place in the Interstate Commerce Commission, Mr. Bradley received hundreds of letters from the mountains demanding that he fight McChord because of the latter's intimacy with William Goebel. To all of these the Senator replied that a Democrat was going to be appointed Commissioner and in that case he wanted a Kentucky Democrat, that he knew no man better qualified than McChord and would so state to the President. "What McChord said or did in a stirring time is of no bearing on this case," said Bradley, and he repeatedly urged Mr. Taft to make the appointment, which was made.

It was always that way with him when his state or its people were contending or contending for anything which others wanted he fought. The Democratic Representatives came to him to push their bills through the Senate because of that fact and because they knew he was a great worker and was imbued with a local patriotism as intense as that of the ancient Spartan or Attican. During campaigns, in the day when Senator Bradley was making speeches up and down the State, he would go into Democratic congressional districts and urge them to send Republicans to Washington, saying:

The Republican candidate and I can work together, and if you want his hills passed through the Senate you had better send him to the House instead of this Democrat you've got now."

But it was all a good-natured bluff, done in the interest of the party which he loved. For as soon as the Democratic Congressman passed a bill through the House and wanted it pushed in the Senate, he would call on Senator Bradley, ask for aid "in the interest of the people of my district" and the aid was always given. Uncle Joe Cannon once raised the tariff on zinc as a reward to the people of the Joplin, Mo., district for replacing a Democrat with a Republican. But Senator Bradley's reward and punishments when they affected local legislation, were always in the index, but never on the statute books.

He and Owale Stanley once black-guarded each other up and down the Second district, and the Senator told his famous "Indian-and-jackass" story on the Congressman. But when Stanley reached Washington and told the Senator he had been a chum of his dead son, George, the eyes of the old man filled with tears, and he loved Stanley like a father after that. He ridiculed Congressman Fields as a "drummer" in the Ninth district and then treated him with every consideration and courtesy after he reached Washington.

"The verdict of the Kentucky people at their elections is good enough for me," was a Bradley maxim.

During the heat of the Taft-Wilson campaign Bradley and Ollie James got into a wordy war in which some hard blows were exchanged. It was feared for a while that they would not pull together in the Senate, a condition which always works to the detriment of a State. In a letter to the writer, dated December 23, 1912, Mr. Bradley remarked (at a time when the dust of conflict had barely settled.)

"James and I will be all right. The interest of Kentucky demands it, and that is enough. If I can be of any assistance to him it will afford me pleasure."

Such was William O'Connell Bradley, the Senator, and his grave holds a loyal Kentuckian, American and Republican, who will not easily be replaced by Kentucky, the Union or the Republican party.

Of William O'Connell Bradley, the man, there remains a lasting monument—his manuscript of memoirs and anecdotes, the famous ones he told and heard all over Kentucky during fifty years of campaigning. These have all been edited and are ready for the printer, and it is hoped and presumed that his estate will give them to the world.

The senatorial race for the long term is becoming more interesting as time passes. The three candidates contesting for the Democratic nomination have established headquarters in Louisville. Hon. A. O. Stanley is going about the work of making the fight with his usual energy and determination. He is speaking on an average of twice a day to large and attentive audiences. He makes plain his stand upon public questions and makes friends in every audience that he addresses. Mr. Stanley has been a faithful public servant and to those thinking democrats who wish to have on guard in Washington a man who is capable of serving the people in the highest way and whose sympathies are with the struggling masses his candidacy challenges support.

His next speech in this part of the state will be in Danville next Monday. His many admirers in this section will be on hand to enjoy the brilliant address which he is expected to deliver on that occasion.

SAM HERRON, HERE.

Mr Samuel Lee Herron, U. S. Coast Artillery, is in Lancaster for a month's furlough. Sam was expected home shortly but came a little sooner than was expected because of the injury sustained by his father. He has recently successfully passed the examination as a 1st Class Gunner.

COME IN AND SWELL THE THROG.

The week of June 22d will be a notable one in Lancaster. Chautauqua will be here during the week with such attractions as have never been seen in Lancaster before, and every one should purchase season tickets, which materially lessens the cost, and attend every session. These attractions are high class in every particular, the very best obtainable and are the same as are to be seen in the regular Chautauqua courses in much more pretentious towns than Lancaster, and we are indeed very fortunate to be able to secure them, and they most assuredly deserve the unstinted patronage of the people of the county.

The Garrard county Teachers Institute will also be in session during the week, and this will swell the number of visitors considerably, as well as add materially to the week's attractions, as the Institutes are invariably of more or less interest to the general public.

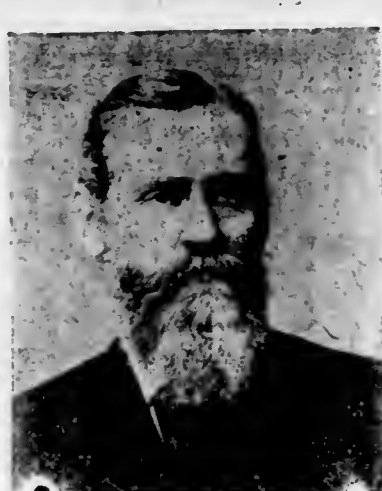

We are aware of the fact that this is a busy time of the year for the farmers, but there is not one of them who will not feel fully repaid for taking a day or two off and coming in for the unusually interesting attractions. Bring your family, there will be something to interest every member, even to the kiddies.

SENATOR JAMES HITS HEAVY BLOWS.DEFENDS DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION
Flays Leaders Opposing Repeal Bill.

Senator Ollie M. James made one of the most stirring speeches on last Tuesday heard in the Senate since the Repeal Bill Measure has been before that body. Many clashes between those Senators fighting the administration's plan and the big Kentucky Senator took place during his speech, but those interrupting were soon silenced by the keen sarcasm and powerful logic of the gifted Kentuckian. Senator James being a recognized spokesman for the administration his speech on this measure upon which the President has placed so much importance, naturally attracted attention.

The way the Senator showed his opponents as serving the interest of the Standard Oil and Steel Trust and the shipping monopoly caused bitter colloquy. The speaker delighted the administration forces in his able manner of presenting that side of the question.

He favored the repeal of the present law permitting free passage of American ships through the canal. First, because it keeps intact the nations honor. Second, because it repeals a subsidy to call it by its right name. Some persons call it a "tolls exemption" said the speaker.

DOTY.

Captain James Alexander Doty dropped peacefully to rest at his home on Danville avenue in this city at 7:30 o'clock on last Saturday evening. Surrounded by his sorrowing family, his passing was as quiet and peaceful as if he were going to his evening repose, rather than into the sleep that knows no waking.

Capt. Doty had been in failing health for more than a year, but in January last his condition showed such marked improvement that he followed an often expressed desire to visit his relatives at Winstonsboro S. C., and also hoping that the change of scene and climate might prove beneficial to his health. He returned to his home in Lancaster the first of March, and since that time he has steadily declined, and for the past few weeks he has been confined to his home, most of the time to his bed. Uremic poisoning developed, to which his death was directly attributable. During his last illness everything that was possible was done to alleviate his suffering, and all that kind friends and loving relatives could do, was done for him, but they realized that his complications of diseases and his advanced years foreboded the approaching end.

On Monday afternoon after short funeral services at the Presbyterian church by his old companion-in-arms, Dr. E. M. Green of Danville, assisted by Rev. J. Rockwell Smith, his remains followed by a long concourse of sorrowing friends, were borne to their last resting place in the Lancaster cemetery.

James Alexander Doty was born in Garrard county on June 25 1840 and was the son of Sabritt and Emily Henderson Doty. He had scarcely reached his young manhood when the Civil war broke out and he espoused the cause of the Confederacy, joining the command of Gen. John Morgan. He was captured and was among the number imprisoned in Ohio, from where he escaped by bribing a guard, and after a short time joined Col. Bennett H. Young in his famous "St. Albans Raid."

After the close of the war he returned home and at once assumed a place of prominence in the affairs of his native county. He was elected Magistrate, and served two terms as county clerk of his county, and was ever a wise counselor, whose advice was sought and valued upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of the community.

In 1867 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Gordon Leavell, a daughter of the late John Y. Leavell, and five years ago this loving helpmate preceded him to the grave.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. B. Jennings of Tulsa Okla., and Misses Jane and Mary Doty of Lancaster, and by four sons, Ed G. Doty of Pecos Tex. and Messrs Will, Alex and Charles Doty of this place. Two sisters and two brothers also survive him as follows, Mrs. Elizabeth Adams of Winstonsboro S. C. and Mrs. Sallie Dunn of Fort Worth Tex. Mr. W. R. Doty of Winstonsboro S. C. and Mr. Jesse Doty of Lancaster.

Capt. Doty was a lovable character. It was left to those who best knew him to most appreciate him, and the grief of his old comrades in arms at his death was particularly touching, for it was they who knew him best and were to a man, devoted to him. He was called "Captain" more as a mark of respect than for any other reason. Gov. McCreary who was his warm friend, and who visited him during his last illness, appointed him a Colonel on his staff, and this was the military title by which he was justly entitled to be called.

Capt. Doty was given to saying what he thought, expressing his opinions in no uncertain terms, but was withal a very popular man, a gentleman of the old school, whose primary duty was respect and courtesy for the gentler sex, one of those lovable old school gentlemen of the south.

No truer heart ever beat within human breast, no truer friend ever vowed allegiance to his brother man, no better neighbor ever anyone had, a kindly and indulgent father, a splendid citizen and an upright honorable gentleman, better than whom the county never knew. His loss will be deeply deplored throughout the county and wherever he was known. To the bereaved family the Record expresses its sincere sympathy, in which it will be joined by the innumerable friends.

MR. TERRILL LAYTONBETTER.

It will be good news to the many friends of Mr. O. T. Layton to hear that his condition is much better since the report contained in the last issue of the Record. While yet in a serious condition, he is able to be up and about his room, and it is hoped that he will improve steadily from this time forward.

LYNE-JOHNSTON.

The following account of the Lyne-Johnston wedding which took place in Lexington last week, is taken from the Lexington Leader. The groom is well known in Lancaster, where he was born and raised. He is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William McClelland Johnston, until recently residents of Lancaster. The young people have the hearty congratulations of a host of Garrard county friends.

"Another pretty wedding of Wednesday afternoon was that of Miss Nancy Lyne to Mr. William Bradley Johnston which was celebrated at 4 o'clock at Providence Christian church. Rev. H. L. Calhoun, minister of the church, officiating. The church is a quaint structure of historic interest and where the bride's family have attended all their lives.

The decorations were of palms, ferns, hanging baskets and two tall white willow baskets with ascension lilies. The day was ideal and the rays of sunlight came through the stained glass windows enhancing the picture.

Miss Tommie Webb presiding at the organ played the wedding music. The Bridal March from Lohengrin gave the signal for the coming of the procession, the ushers, Messrs Prentiss Porter Douglass, of Louisville, and Baylor Van Meter entering on the right and Guy Rea, of Pittsburgh and Lucian Patton on the left. The matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. Lovell Yerkes, of Birmingham Alabama, followed the ushers on the right and the maid of honor, Miss Mary Foster on the left preceding the bride, who was escorted and given in marriage by her father, Mr. Sanford Connelly Lyne. At the same time, the bridegroom, with the best man, the bride's brother Mr. William Lyne, advanced and joining at the alter the bridal couple stood before the waiting minister for the marriage ceremony, the truth being pledged and plighted with a ring.

The bride's gown was of white soft tulle silk with lace trimming and her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a lovely bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore white embroidered crepe with white hat wreathed in blue and a shower bouquet of the rare looking blue.

The maid of honor was beautifully gowned in white embroidered voile with sash of blue tulle and white hat covered with the same. Her bouquet was also a shower of the blue blossoms. The wedding march by Mendelssohn was played for the departure from the church and the wedding party and nearest relatives and friends went through a lane from the church to Larchmont, the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held and supper was served.

The parlors were decorated in iris and syringa and the dining room in blue and marshallites, the table having a large basket in the center and four small baskets around filled with the pretty June flowers. Billows of tulle were arranged between and the effect was beautiful. At the bride's table were seated the bride and bridegroom, Miss Foster, Mrs. Yerkes, Miss Clara Belle Walton, Miss Mary Johnston of Nicholasville, the bridegroom's sister, Mr. William Lyne, Mr. Patton, Mr. Douglass, Mr. Rea, Mr. VanMeter.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Lyne, Mrs. S. D. Macpherson of Providence R. I.; Miss Jane K. Lyne, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Farra, Judge and Mrs. Mathew Walton, Prof. and Mrs. Alfred Zembrod. Mr. Lucian Lyne, the brother of the bride, who is now abroad, was very much missed and sent a cable gram of good wishes; also the elder brother, Dr. Farra Lyne of New York, who was unable to be present.

Mrs. Lyne wore white voile with white hat trimmed in cream roses, Mrs. Macpherson was in lace over pale green chaiseuse, and Miss Lyne was gowned in white voile with touches of black and black lace hat trimmed in American beauty roses.

After the wedding the bridal couple left for a trip and will live at Bell Jellio, going to an attractive bungalow all in readiness for their coming.

The bride is one of the prettiest and most charming girls of the younger set. She is the youngest of several bright and talented daughters and has been a much admired belle.

Mr. Johnston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William McClelland Johnston of Nicholasville and is a Kentucky University man of fine business qualifications, popular and prominent. He holds a position with the Bell Jellio Coal Company.

The marriage is the result of a romance of several years and far and near the young people have the interest and good wishes of many friends.

The wedding gifts were in great numbers and all the happy auguries are theirs.

The bride's cake was cut for the emblems and Miss Mary Foster drew the pair, Miss Mary Leonard Cassel the dime, and Miss Walton the thimble. Miss Marie Bain cut the bride's bouquet.

BRIGHTEN UP A LITTLE FOR CHAUTAUQA.

A pile of whitewash will not cost much and will add greatly to the appearance of your premises. The cutting of the unsightly weeds is also an inexpensive job, and would prove equally as attractive. See that these things are performed before the influx of visitors during the Chautauqua.

GAME WARDEN SCALFSAYS HE IS DOING EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO ENFORCE LAW, LACKS CO-OPERATION.

In answer to the article which appeared in last week's issue of the Record, Game Warden J. S. Scalf called at the Record office and made the statement that since his appointment to the position he had done everything possible to see that the game and fish laws were enforced, having gone so far as to submit the names of those who had been reported to him as having violated these laws to the grand jury at previous terms of the court. Mr. Scalf asserts that it is impossible for him to accomplish anything unless he can have the co-operation of the citizens of the county, and requests that any and all persons who are in possession of any evidence as to violations of these laws report same to him and that he will do the rest.

This is but justice to Mr. Scalf, and he is correct in his statement that his hands are tied and he is rendered powerless by the refusal or failure of the citizens to furnish him any information which they may be in possession of that would tend to the conviction of persons having been guilty of violation of the laws.

That there have been violations of these laws, we have no doubt, there are too many persistent rumors afloat to this effect for there not to be any truth in some of them, and it is common justice to Mr. Scalf and to the offended law, that any citizen having cognizance of these violations should apprise him of them. It is not necessary that your name should be known in the matter, nor should it be known, so if you have any information that would prove of value to him, call on Mr. Scalf and apprise him of the facts in your possession.

AUTOMOBILE LAWEFFECTIVE JUNE 12TH.*TRAFFIC SPEED LIMITED.*Chaufeur's Licenses.

Beginning tomorrow, June 12th, the new automobile law passed by the 1914 Legislature becomes effective.

The law forbids the driving or any vehicle at a speed greater than is "reasonable and proper." The following are limits placed as "reasonable and proper," any greater being prima facie evidence of unreasonable and improper speed. In closely built-up sections of incorporated cities, ten miles an hour; in residence districts, fifteen miles an hour; highways outside of the business and residence section, twenty miles an hour. On a curve, corner or crossing, where the operator's view is obstructed, eight miles an hour is the limit.

A driver must come to a full stop in passing a frightened horse or near a street car taking on or discharging passengers. Any city may, however, pass traffic laws that place the speed limits lower than the statute.

The framers of the law were generous in providing fines and equally unselfish in finding acts which can be punished. Some of the law infractions and their penalties are:

Fine of $10 for fictitious chauffeur's badge.

Fine of $15 for employer of unlicensed chauffeur.

Fine of $15 to $50 for intoxicated operator for motor vehicle.

Fines of $10 to $100 for use of fictitious automobile licenses.

Fine of $15 to $100 for person under sixteen who drives car without parent or guardian.

Cancellation of vehicle license for owner who fails to report discharge of chauffeur because of drunkenness.

Two to five years in the penitentiary for taking machine without owner's consent.

Forfeiture of chauffeur's license on conviction for drunkenness.

Fine of $10 to $50 for violation of any section not specifically enumerated. This may be augmented by five to thirty days in jail.

The new license price follow:

For vehicles and twenty-five horse power or less, $6; between twenty-five and fifty, $11, and above fifty horse power, $20. A motorcycle registration fee is $5.

The examination for chauffeurs to establish their right to licenses are to be held as follows:

Louisville, first Monday in December; Lexington, first Monday in February; Maysville, first Monday in April; Bowling Green, first Monday in July; Paducah, first Monday in September, and Covington, first Monday in May.

Until then the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles at Frankfort will have the right to issue licenses.

DO NOT FORGETTHE INSTITUTE.

Do not lose sight of the fact that the Garrard county Teachers Institute will be held in Lancaster during the week of June 22d, and that the law requires every teacher who expects to teach in the county to attend the sessions under penalty of forfeiting their certificate.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND INSTITUTE.

Miss Lida Gardner of Carlisle and Mr. John B. McFerran of Louisville have signified their intention of being present on Wednesday June 23d at the Teachers Institute. Miss Gardner is Superintendent of School of Nicholas county and Mr. McFerran has done much to promote the cause of education in Kentucky. Come and hear them.

WELL KNOWN COLORED MAN DIES.

Cary Mullins, one of the best known colored men in Lancaster, died very suddenly at his home on the "Chute" last Friday afternoon and his remains were interred in the colored cemetery on Saturday.

"Uncle Cary" was a colored man of the highest integrity, one of Uncle Sam's pensioners, and before the installation of the new plant was the efficient engineer for the Record plant.

A memorial service was held in the Circuit Court room in Lancaster, Ky., on May 27 1914 at 10 o'clock a m in honor of the memory of the late Senator William O. Bradley by the Lancaster Bar, of which the deceased for many years was a distinguished member. The committee appointed to draft resolutions reported the following which were unanimously adopted.

Be it resolved by the Lancaster Bar in call meeting assembled.

First—That we do lament the call of death has stilled the voice and closed the honorable and useful life of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late Senator William O. Bradley.

Second—That this Bar takes a peculiar pride in the fact that the honored dead was born in this county, that he spent his early life in this city, that he was first admitted to the practice of law at this bar, and that he lived in this city until he was elected Governor of Kentucky, and that his honored career began in our midst and that he was one of our citizens until he had become the most respected public man of the state all this is a source of pride not only of this Bar, but the entire county, and that we were especially endeared to him for his unwavering loyalty and love for the city and county of his birth, and that during all his long and honored public service every opportunity was sought and used by him to help any individual from his home and to forward the interest of his home community, and we do especially feel grateful for his successful effort in securing for this city a public building, which will be, when erected, a monument to his love and loyalty for his old home.

Third—That in his long, successful, useful and brilliant public service, honesty, patriotism and loyalty to what he deemed the best interest of his state and nation characterized his acts, and that at all times he held the unwavering confidence and respect of his home county in all his efforts.

Fourth—That as a member of the bar he was always honorable, courteous to his opponents, but diligent and untiring on behalf of his clients. As an advocate before the court or jury he had no superiors and few equals. We with pride commend his honorable life as an attorney and counsellor as fully worthy of emulation.

Fifth—Be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread at large upon the order book of the Garrard Circuit Court and a copy be furnished the family of the honored dead and a copy be furnished the Central Record for publication.

Man Outflies the Birds.

Compared with an aeroplane ascent of 15,000 feet, the common birds are mere groundlings, for generally they fly at no greater height than 300 feet. When migrating, however, they mount higher, though even then the wild goose (the loftiest of them) seldom reaches 2,000 feet. The highest flier in the world is the great condor, which sometimes rises five miles.

Use Gentlest Voice.

I would say to all: Use your gentlest voice at home. Watch it by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl hid in the sea. A kind voice is joy, like a lark's song, to a hearth at home. It is a light that sings as well as shines. Train it to sweet tones now, and it will keep in tune through life.—Elithu Burritt.

National Costumes Passing.

It is only among the very old in Wales and Ireland that the old costumes are worn. Of imperishable memory is the red Connemara colleen cloak, and the native Welsh dress is not less dear to the lovers of the picturesque, with its high pointed hat worn above a frilled lawn cap, the worsted shawl, the short petticoat, the white apron, the trim shoes. Only the extremely old women in Wales still wear the quaint "stovepipes."

HELPFUL WORDS

From A Lancaster Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region? These symptoms suggest weak kidneys.

If so there is danger in delay. Weak kidneys get fast weaker. Give your trouble prompt attention. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Your neighbors use and recommend them. Read this Lancaster testimony.

George Wright, Hotel Kengarian, Lancaster Ky, says: "I suffered a great deal from my kidneys and back. Pains through my loins extended to the sides and over my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and my kidneys became normal and the pains stopped. I willingly confirm all that I said some years ago praising Doan's Kidney Pills. They do all that is claimed for them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wright had. —Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr Breeder have you heard the news

is the daddy of two fine children, a boy and a girl. They were both over 42 inches high when foaled and $100.00 will not buy either one of them.

Don't forget the pretty spotted pony and think of the price, only $8.00 each to insure.

S. H. ALDRIDGE, HYATTSVILLE, KY.

Winner on the Track and In the Show Ring Against the Best in the Land.

The only real proof of the individuality and soundness of the stallion is the show ring. It gives Melrose Farm great pleasure to again offer the services of the well-known horses, Thistle-Downe, winning race record 2:09 1/4 on the grand circuit and winner of the champion roadster stallion class at the Kentucky State Fair, 1913, and Chimewood, 2:19 1/4 considered by many the handsomest trotting stallion in the world, winner of the trotting bred stallion class at the Kentucky Fair, 1913.

Baldy McGregor 2:06 3/4, who recently sold for $40,000.00 in Europe and Blanche McGregor, who recently sold for $10,000.00 in this country, are a brother and sister of Thistle-Downe 2:09 1/4, who is himself the sire of Zulika 2:29 1/4 and Madona Doune (2), 2:26 3/4, and who has a large number of colts in training in the hands of Kentucky's famous reinsman, Ben Kennedy, and it is confidently expected that a number will race to fast records this year.

Chimewood has the distinction of being more sought after by Government Commission than any stallion in America, and they offered the largest price, $3,000.00 cash, they offered for any stallion, which was refused.

TERMS are Thistle-Downe, $35.00 to insure; Chimewood, $25.00 to insure. Mares kept on grass at owner's risk.

He greatly resembles his good sire Silent Brook and is out of Clayo, by the great Futurity sire Moko. A grand combination of two of the best race horse families of the present day. He being a real race horse himself, having had very little training and most of that by an amateur. It certainly looks like this horse is of Grand Circuit caliber, and if given half a chance he will win his share of the money sure.

BLEUCHER is a perfect type of a road horse, good gaited with perfect manners, wears no boots or weights. He has an undefeated record in the Station Road Class for 1913, and is conceded by good judges to be the best road horse out this year.

This is a good opportunity for Garrard and adjoining counties to breed into the best families of the trotting blood. Look this horse's breeding over and see how many they have in the list both sire and dam.

It is surprising how reckless some automobile owners are becoming. Late Saturday afternoon a heavily loaded machine bound for Crab Orchard, ran into Mr. Logan Thompson's horse which he was riding and the animal was seriously injured, while Mr. Thompson was knocked over against the fence, so great was the impact in the collision. The same machine also was said to have struck the poultry wagon of Northcott & Co, near here and did quite a lot of damage besides overturning the wagon. Others driving on the highway report narrow escapes. Time to cull a halt.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Came Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Caron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

is as good as if it were made of one-piece staves, and very much less expensive. There is no metal at these joints to become corroded by the acids and no outside moisture can collect in them to rot the wood. This joint adds years to the life of your silo and many dollars to its value.

We have a plan by which you can own an Indiana Silo and let it pay for itself out of what it pays for you on next winter's feed bills. Give us a chance to explain it to you.

"Dinner Pail Man" to Lecture

During the Chautauqua Here

REV. GEORGE L. McNUTT WORKING ON A DAM AT THE FOOT OF FREDERICK'S PEAK.

THE morning of Labor day, 1910, Rev. George L. McNutt ("the dinner pail man"), who is to lecture at our Chautauqua this season, appeared at the foot of Frederick's peak, where the Menicchedum's waters swiftly now join the nearby Niagara. Here a huge dam and lake are being constructed for power and pleasure. "Need any help?" the stranger asked. "Can you handle a wheelbarrow?" the boss replied. The stranger declared he could do anything any other laborer could do. "All right, go ahead," said the boss. The stranger took his place at the concrete mixer, wheelbarrow in hand, along with pure blooded Americans, Sioux Indians and mixed Americans like himself. There were winter floaters looking for enough to feed on as blind baggage to Denver, Deadwood or Kansas City and homesteaders badly in need of spare change to help hold down their 640 acres of sand hills. The Indians were picturesque; the Macedonians were intensely interesting. One had been fourteen years in a Turkish prison. The floaters were mostly wrecks. All were human documents whose hieroglyphics are so confusing to social onlookers who have escaped manual labor. The stranger was McNutt, "the dinner pail man," who had just filed sixty Chautauqua dates. He was now at school again, ten hours a day, with aching muscles, open eyes and ears and heart, sounding the depths of the life of the other half and deciphering the deeply grooved human hieroglyphics. Compulsory enlistment in the army of industry, as Professor McNutt remarks, knocks out the foolishness and makes room for sense, better than any school could. McNutt knows the "strange," his peculiar pattern and power before the men and women of the "strange," the Chautauqua, the clubs and the churches. McNutt knows the game. He is a living voice. For six weeks he continued his studies and then started out lecturing again with another interesting chapter added to his long list of experiences.

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE FOR ALL CITIES.

WHEN a city has attained to such a standard of cleanliness that it hasn't enough flies to feed its pet chameleons it has made long strides toward the ideal of flylessness preached by modern sanitarians. That was Cleveland's case, according to an article in the Survey describing the anti-fly campaign which had been waged in that city. A man who has six of the curious little reptiles has written the fly fighting headquarters this plaintive letter:

You have brought about a famine in flies. My pets are starving. There are no flies to be had about my house, and my neighbors can't seem to help me out. I'll pay, and pay well, for every live fly your children can bring me.

And he did.

Fly Don'ts

Allow flies in your house. Allow flies on your premises. Allow garbage or rubbish to accumulate. Allow dirt in the house; look into every nook and corner. Allow flies in food. Buy foodstuffs where flies are allowed, especially milk that is in cans or bottles covered with flies. Forget to notify the health office of dirty places.
